HISTORICAL DATA

The first unit of Suffolk University has been in successful operation for forty-seven years. Suffolk Law School was founded in September 1906, and was chartered with degree granting powers by the Legislature of Massachusetts in 1914.

Early in its history the Suffolk Law School gained wide recognition as a training school for lawyers. Self-supporting students in an ever widening circle found in Suffolk a haven of opportunity. Judges, lawyers, business men, leaders in political and civic life owe their advancement to the training received at Suffolk Law School. The rising cost of higher education in recent years has brought about an extension of Suffolk's educational program. Although New England has been long famous for its colleges and universities, until 1934 when Suffolk College of Liberal Arts was founded there was no opportunity east of New York City where an ambitious man or woman might earn a Bachelor of Arts Degree entirely through evening study. Suffolk was the first to recognize and to provide for this need—its Liberal Arts department opening its doors to students September 24, 1934. The Legislature of Massachusetts gave the new college a special degree-granting charter in February 1935.

A Graduate School of Law was established in September, 1935, and a College of Journalism one year later. The various departments of Suffolk University were incorporated by the Massachusetts Legislature in April, 1937.

A building campaign was at once inaugurated to provide adequate facilities for the growing institution. The main building (erected in 1920-21) and annex (1923-1924) were remodeled and upper stories added thus providing a thoroughly up-to-date University Building.

Completion and dedication of the University Building occurred in February 1938—delegates from fifty colleges and universities participating in impressive ceremonies.

BUILDING AND EQUIPMENT

UNIVERSITY BUILDING

The University Building is a modern fireproof structure located at the corner of Derne and Temple Streets, Beacon Hill. The cornerstone of the first unit of the building was laid in 1920 by Calvin Coolidge, then Governor of Massachusetts and later President of the United States. The last unit was added in 1937 and the completed building was formally dedicated in February 1938.

The University Building occupies the entire space bounded by Temple Street, Derne Street and Ridgeway Lane. Eleven dwelling houses were razed to make way for this massive structure. The building has total floor area of more than 82,000 square feet. Located in it are the Executive Offices, the University Library, twenty-three lecture halls, laboratories for Biology, Chemistry and Physics, the University Auditorium, Faculty Rooms, Trustees' Room and Bookstore.

THE UNIVERSITY LIBRARY

The University Library occupies the major portion of the third floor of the University Building. The main reading room is beautifully lighted and has electrically operated ventilators. Including the balcony there is a total stack capacity of forty-five thousand volumes affording opportunity for expansion. Each department is receiving regularly important accessions of the latest works in its field. All books, except those on required reading lists which are on reserve and are kept at the charging desk, are on the shelves open to the students, faculties and alumni.

In addition to the standard reference books and texts needed for the various courses, the Library receives regularly many newspapers, periodicals and government publications. The Library is open from 9:00 A.M. to 10:00 P.M. Monday through Friday; 9:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M. Saturday.

The University Library serves not only the Law School, but also the College of Liberal Arts, the College of Journalism, the College of Business Administration, and the Graduate School of Law. Reference books, encyclopedias, classical and historical volumes, source material for research and other aids to scholarship are provided.

THE LAW LIBRARY

The Law Section of the Library has been greatly enlarged during recent years. The Library now has complete state reports for the forty-eight states, a full set of English reports, and a collection of law reviews from leading law schools in America.

Thus, the Law School is able to offer one of the most complete Law Libraries in this section of the country, the law section itself of the University Library comprising more than twenty thousand volumes.

METHOD OF INSTRUCTION

The method of instruction in Suffolk University Law School combines the study of cases and texts with lectures designed to develop legal reasoning and a knowledge of principles and rules. The competent practice of the law demands an ability to analyze complicated fact situations, as well as a knowledge of legal principles and a trained power of legal reasoning. Diagnosis is as important in legal practice as in medical practice. It is as essential for the lawyer to determine what is fundamentally involved in a legal controversy as it is for a doctor to ascertain the ailment of a patient. Accordingly, analysis of decisions and, quite as essentially, of fact situations, is a significant and important part of the system of instruction.

COURTS OF THE LAW SCHOOL

There are four courts for undergraduates modeled upon the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court, Superior Court, Probate Court and District Court. The practice in these courts is conducted in accordance with the actual practice in the State Courts; in these courts members of the Faculty of trial experience will preside. Each Court has its Clerk, who is required to conduct his office in strict accordance with the conduct of the offices of the Clerks of Courts in this State.

Students must institute actions in these courts and conduct them through their various stages to final judgment or decree, each student being required to take entire charge of, and to be responsible for, his case. The student acquires experience in the more common matters of practice which he will encounter in his first years of professional life.

The practice, so far as is possible, follows that of actual litigation. Evidence is presented, exceptions taken, and appeals claimed. The court work is required of all regular students and must be completed satisfactorily as a condition of graduation. Record is kept of the work of each student in order to teach by experience the penalties which are imposed in practice for negligence or a failure in punctuality. The court work is established to afford the widest possible experience in practice, pleading and evidence.

SEMINARS AND GROUP CONFERENCES

Since successful study of the law depends upon the power of the student to acquire the skilled lawyer's mode of thought, — the legal mind, — conferences with individual students and with small groups conducted by members of the Faculty will be held with first and second year students to that end. Specifically the objects in view are to show that the law is a science, a body of rules and principles upon which society depends; that these rules and principles can be learned and properly applied by independent individual logical analysis. Students will be aided so far as possible both in their mode of thought in the solution of particular issues and in acquiring a balanced view of related parts of the law, by oral discussion and advice. Carefully prepared problems are assigned for written solution. These solutions are subsequently criticized rigorously as to legal substance, clearness and force of expression, and the elements of good literary form so as to train the students in the art of drafting convincing forensic expressions of the results reached by accurate analysis of facts and of the applicable law.

DEPARTMENT OF STUDENT HEALTH AND HYGIENE

A Department of Student Health and Hygiene is maintained by the University and is concerned with the activities which directly and indirectly affect student health. The Department has a complete program, covered by player insurance, of treatment, hospitalization and x-rays for athletes.

The Medical Office is located in Room 49 where the necessary staff and equipment are available at all times for first aid and other minor difficulties. A physician is in attendance at the University at stated hours and is available for emergency call at all hours. The Medical Office may be reached by calling CAPitol 7-1040, Extension 15.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES

Suffolk University has a well-formulated program of student activities designed to develop and encourage the personal qualities of leadership, initiative, cooperation and sportsmanship. The maintenance of a satisfactory scholastic standard, however, is a prerequisite for participation in these activities. A member of the administrative staff of the College has been appointed to serve as Director of Student Activities. The Director works closely with student groups in all matters of organization, meetings, public performance, etc. A list of activities open to all qualified students in the University is printed in the Catalogue of the College.

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

The Suffolk University Law Society was organized in September 1948. The purposes of the Society are to afford opportunity for analysis and discussion of legal problems and for preparation of briefs and argument of causes. The Society extends invitation to members of the Bar and of the Faculty to address the members upon various phases of the actual practice of the law. The constitution of the Society limits its membership, but contains no conditions of eligibility. It is customary, however, to select new members from those students who have completed the first year's work and who have attained high scholastic standing.

The Wig and Robe Society is an organization to membership in which all students in the Law School are eligible. It maintains club rooms in close proximity to the School in which it has the reports of the Supreme Judicial Court of the Commonwealth, the Federal Reports, Corpus Juris, text books and other legal material available to its membership. Guest lecturers are procured to speak on problems of the law. It is an aim of the Society to foster a closer unity between students, Faculty and alumni.

THE SUFFOLK LAW SCHOOL ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

This is a large and active organization of former students now on the Bench or at the Bar of the New England states. The Fall, Winter, and Spring dinners each year at Boston's famed Parker House bring noted jurists, leading lawyers, and other distinguished speakers for addresses on current legal problems. It maintains a SCHOLARSHIP FUND from annual contributions of its members which provided tuition for twelve students during 1953-1954. Additional grants will be made.

SCHOLARSHIPS

Fairchild Scholarship

The Fairchild Scholarship was established in December, 1946, by Mrs. Julian D. Fairchild of Brooklyn, N. Y., in memory of her late husband.

These scholarships may be awarded in the discretion of the Faculty to needy and deserving students of good scholastic standing in the second and third year classes.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

A. REGULAR STUDENTS

In order that the graduates of the Law School may comply with the prelegal college educational requirements for admission to the bar of all of the New England states and the majority of others, Suffolk University Law School accepts as candidates for the Bachelor of Laws degree applicants who have completed three-quarters of a bachelor's degree from an approved college or university.

Applicants who do not meet the foregoing requirement may consult the Registrar of Suffolk University College of Liberal Arts for a program of day or evening studies which will prepare them for admission to the law school.

RECOMMENDED PRELEGAL COURSES

Since the majority of our Law School students come from many universities, the Faculty of the Law School does not specify particular subjects for the prelegal course. However, we advise the prospective law student to include the following subjects in his college course:

1. English.

A thorough knowledge of English composition and speech is required. A wide vocabulary and a strong skill in paragraph structure, punctuation and spelling is essential.

2. History and Government.

The study of English and American history should include the development of our common law systems. Courses in government should include English and American constitutional government.

3. Other Courses.

Where possible the student should include logic, some economics and accounting.

COMBINED DEGREE PROGRAM

Students in Suffolk University's colleges are advised to follow this program set forth in the college catalogue and receive their college degree upon completion of the first year law school subjects as listed in the three year course, whether taken in the day or evening division.

B. SPECIAL STUDENTS

Some mature men and women who do not desire to be candidates for the Bachelor of Laws degree, and who demonstrate their ability to profit by particular courses, may be admitted as special students.

ADMISSION PROCEDURE

Applicants for admission will present to the Law School Office the following:

1. A completed Application Blank accompanied by the Registration Fee of five dollars. Blanks may be obtained in person or by mail from the Law School Office.
- 2(a). College graduates will present a certificate from the Registrar of their college stating the degree earned and the date on which it was conferred.
- (b). Applicants who did not graduate from college will present a transcript from the college (or colleges) previously attended. The transcript should specify courses, the semester when taken, with the passing mark, a key to the grades not in percents, and a statement of the high or preparatory school units accepted for entrance.
3. An applicant who has attended another law school will, in addition to the two forms required above, furnish a transcript of his law school record, and a letter of recommendation from its Dean.

A personal interview with the Dean or other member of the Faculty Administrative Committee when presenting the Application is desired. However, application by mail is possible for persons not yet returned from the armed services if the foregoing procedure is completed and two letters of recommendation as to the character of the applicant are sent to the Law School Office by responsible citizens of his community.

16 SUFFOLK UNIVERSITY LAW SCHOOL

All applications are voted on by the Faculty Administrative Committee. Notification of the action taken will be sent by mail to the applicant at the address given on the application unless otherwise requested in writing.

REGISTRATION

Incoming Freshmen will register in the Law School Office on or before Wednesday of the second week in September, and attend Orientation Lectures given by the President, Dean and Professors as scheduled.

Freshmen, who because of illness or other cogent reason, cannot be here on the dates above, may make arrangements for late registration with the Dean's Office.

LEGAL APTITUDE TEST

Applicants for admission to Suffolk University of Law School are advised, but not required, to take the legal aptitude test conducted by the Educational Testing Service of New Jersey. This test is conducted several times annually in the major cities of the United States. For information and application form write the Educational Testing Service, Post Office Box 592, Princeton, New Jersey. Examinees should request that the results of the test be forwarded to the Suffolk University Law School.

ADVANCED STANDING

Advanced standing toward the degree of Bachelor of Laws may be granted for courses successfully completed in approved law schools, if such courses are required for the degree in Suffolk University Law School, in the discretion of the Faculty, and subject to the following conditions:

1. Applicants for admission with advanced standing for courses taken in another law school must comply with the Requirements for Admission to Suffolk University Law School in operation at the time of admission to the other law school, and must file transcripts of the record of their work in other law schools.
2. Credit will not be granted for any course required at Suffolk in which the applicant received a grade at the other law school below C, or the grade which is required by such other law school for the degree. The total advanced standing in required courses shall not exceed the first and second year's courses of the three-year program at Suffolk University Law School. Elective credit at Suffolk may be granted for any other courses in the discretion of the Faculty Administrative Committee.

3. Students admitted to advanced standing shall be required to pass all courses attended during the first year and to obtain an average of 75 per cent in all such courses.
4. The right is reserved to refuse such credit, or to allow it upon condition or after examination. Credit allowed may be withdrawn for unsatisfactory work at Suffolk University Law School.

DAY AND EVENING DIVISIONS

The courses for the degree of Bachelor of Laws in Suffolk University Law School are offered in a day and an evening division. The three year course in the day division is designed for students who are able to devote substantially all of their working time to the study of law. Under the Regulations of the School, and under the Rules of the Board of Bar Examiners of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, approved by the Supreme Judicial Court, only those students who can devote "substantially all of their working time"* to the study of law, are eligible to complete their law course in the three school years or six semesters. Students who, because of the necessity of devoting substantial time to outside employment, or other reason, cannot devote substantially all of their working time to the study of law, may enroll in the part time day division or evening division course and complete their work for the degree in four school years, or eight semesters.

The subjects in the two courses are the same as are also the scholastic requirements for the degree.

* See Rule 1b of Rules of the Board of Bar Examiners of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

COURSES OF INSTRUCTION

Suffolk University believes that the development of a well rounded legal education demands a thorough training with special emphasis upon the fundamental branches of the law. It also recognizes that there are other branches, which, while important and essential to the equipment of the lawyer, and valuable from the standpoint of information, are less vital to the understanding of basic principles or to the development of legal reasoning.

The undergraduate curriculum, accordingly, is divided into two groups, the first of which includes courses which all applicants for a degree are required to take. The second group includes subjects, among which a certain degree of election or choice is permitted, — the requirement being that at least eight semester hours in courses in this group must be taken and passed successfully.

The course in Jurisprudence is intended to give the student an opportunity to view the law in its building and to observe it in something of its wholeness. The gains and the losses in human thought and understanding which have added to and taken away from the security of man's life and wellbeing are examined, together with the results as they have been established and with the trends of thought now observable.
